Glass Lamination descriptions:

Bo-Tuff E Glass ULS - A continuous unidirectional "E" fiberglass laminate combined with a 50/50 woven fiberglass inlay (scrim) that has high strength and stiffness along the longitudinal (0) axis and provides cross strength (90 degrees to the longitudinal axis). Available in .043" & .050" clear, .040" & .050" black and brown, .060" black, sanded 1 side.

Bo-Tuff E Glass UL - A continuous unidirectional "E" fiberglass laminate that has high strength and stiffness along the longitudinal (0) axis. Available in .030", .040", .050" clear, .030" black, .040" & .050" white, sanded 1 side.

Core-Tuff Glass - A continuous unidirectional "E" fiberglass laminate designed to add a color strip through the limb as viewed from the edge of the bow. Available in .030", black, red, brown and white, sanded 2 sides.

Uni-Weft Glass - A continuous unidirectional "E" fiberglass laminate with 90 degree fiberglass inlay. This combination not only gives high strength and stiffness along the longitudinal (0) axis, but also provides cross strength and stiffness (90 degrees to the longitudinal axis). It provides increased limb stability where thin or narrow limb design is used, with the addition of a color strip through the limb when red or black is used, as viewed from the edge of the bow. Available in .030", black, red and natural, sanded 2 sides.

Carbon Unidirectional Glass - A unidirectional carbon laminate limb core lamination that provides the ultimate in light weight strength, stiffness and increased performance by providing the highest response, rate of return, weight reduction and fatigue life available. Recommended for laminated limbs with Bo-Tuff E Glass being used as skin glass. Results from the use of this glass may vary depending on the limb weight and design. Available in .020" & .030", natural (blackish-gray), sanded 2 sides.

Power-Tuff Glass - A solid glass material used for cross bow and compound bow limbs where machining is required to shape the limb. Non-traditional users. This glass is available upon special request. Available in black in widths of 1 1/2", 1 3/4" & 2" and thicknesses to .495", sanded 1 or 2 sides.

M.S.D.S. and manufacturer spec. sheets available upon request.
